PRESS RELEASE

Off to new shores with the Naleia experience

With the refreshingly modern concept of Naleia Yachting you can have an unforgettable experience sailing between the coastal strip of the Mediterranean and the infinitely blue horizon.

Three years ago, Dominik Sarapata, the founder of Naleia Yachting, exchanged complex programming scripts with sea charts and since then spends his time sailing azure-blue waters with chartered yachts. He promises to his crews an individually tailored cruise, filled with spontaneous evenings, remote locations and, most of all, community spirit – and – he keeps his word! The route is set only roughly in advance. Detailed plans are made each morning after verifying wind conditions, preferences of the crew and geographical characteristics of the region.

While snorkelling in turquoise waters or exploring a remote island it is easy to unwind and take time to enjoy life. People, who were strangers a few days earlier, talk openly about what matters in life (without their smartphone or WiFi!) naturally, face to face.

Naleia Yachting organizes sailing trips from May to October, predominantly in Croatia, Greece and Italy. Modern yachts offer a space for up to eight people and can be booked individually via <http://www.naleiayachting.com/>.

After a successful opening of the sailing season in Thailand in February, Naleia Yachting will be sailing regularly on the Andaman Sea along the coast of Thailand from 2017.

Young globetrotters are attracted to the Naleia experience as it offers a sustainable form of travel, an opportunity to connect with nature and experience meaningful social encounters.
